IMMENSE AMOUNT OF TOBACCO SOLD

Low Prices Due in a Great Measure to Quality of Offering On Floor.

AVERAGE IS LOWEST

On 301,640 Pounds Which Went Under The Hammer Yesterday.

With prices being lower and the quality of tobacco poorer than at any time during the entire season, 301,640 pounds of tobacco were sold at the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse yesterday. At no time since the opening of the house has there been so much tobacco of the inferior quality on the floors. The low water mark in point of average was the result.

Farmers and growers were free in expressing the opinion that the market was several dollars lower than at any previous day, which according to the buyers was due to the quality of the weed.

One grade of tobacco—the color offering—however, stood up well and demanded practically the same price that has prevailed during the season.

The slump in the Paris market is by no means lasting, according to the close followers, and as soon as better grades can be obtained it will resume the old activity and hold its own with any in the State. Many are of the opinion that most of the better grades have been sold and the market is now glutted with tips and green weed. Following are a few of the crop averages:

Redmon & Braddock, 7,730 pounds, $13.14.17, average $17.
John Young, 3,385 pounds, $402.13, average, $14.90.

Clay & Johnson, 6,200 pounds, $791.17, average, $12.75.

Leir & Menifee, 2,275 pounds, average, $15.39.

Rogers & Duncan, 4,605 pounds, $729.30, average, $15.64.

Griffith & Blackburn, 3,760 pounds, $499.47, average $13.12.

Womason & Wits, 8,795, $1,145.36, average, $13.00.

TUESDAY.

The offering Tuesday consisted of 304,935 pounds of tobacco, which brought a total of $36,246.26, or a general average for the entire amount of $11.85, which was considered an excellent figure for the quality of the weed sold. According to competent judges the quality was the poorest ever offered on the Paris market.

The highest crop average reported during the day was paid for the offerings of White & Shepard, who sold a total of 8,390 pounds for a total of $1,375.31, or an average of $16.44 per hundred pounds. Other good averages reported were:

R. F. Collier, 3,400 pounds, $15.37.

White & Ellis, 5,000 pounds, average $15.10.

W. J. Calvert, 5,790 pounds, average $14.82.

W. C. Daniel, 6,730 pounds, average $14.37.

Stead & Childs, 8,590 pounds, average $14.15.

Flummer & McClure, 2,033 pounds, average $13.99.

Catesby Woodford, Jr., 7,570 lbs., averaged $13.74.

Stoker & Jones, 5,240 pounds, average $13.47.

Dr. Dally & Insko, 3,225 pounds, average $12.89.

C. D. Wagoner & Son, 4,900 pounds, average $13.56.

C. B. Cox and Lewis, 3,260 pounds, average $13.37.

John Taul, 5,920 pounds, average $12.68.

MT. STERLING.

Two hundred and sixty-three thousand pounds of tobacco were sold at Mt. Sterling, Wednesday, prices running from 2 to 30 cents per pound. The quality was better, the market active and strong and there were few rejections. Crop averages were high and all grades up except common red, which were slightly lower. Colory was more in evidence than usual, and buyers were stronger after this grade than at any previous sale.

CYNTHIANA.

A total of 175,000 pounds of tobacco was sold at Cynthiana Wednesday, at an average of $12.62.

RICHMOND.

Good tobacco sales were made at Richmond Wednesday, several baskets bringing as high as $40 per 100. The lowest price was 5 cents a pound.

DANVILLE.

There were 195,000 pounds of tobacco sold at Danville Wednesday, the price being from $2 to $20. The market was strong, with an upward tendency.

FRANKFORT.

Tobacco sales at Frankfort Wednesday were 178,980 pounds at an average of 12 1/2 cents. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $20 per hundred.

CARLSLE.

Tobacco sales at Carlsle Wednesday amounted to 390,000 pounds, prices running to $27 per hundred. Receipts are increasing.

MAYSVILLE.

Wednesday's sales at Maysville amounted to 179,385 pounds, selling at from $2 to $21 per hundred. The market was steady and strong on poor tobacco, of which there was plenty in evidence.

LOAN ASSOCIATION TO FILE INCORPORATING ARTICLES

Articles incorporating the Peoples' Building and Loan Association, a new organization perfected a few days ago will within the next few days be filed in the office of the County Clerk. Those interested in the enterprise are Dr. D. S. Henry, E. H. Gorey, Geo. W. Wilder, J. B. Northcott, S. E. Bedford, William Bryan and P. A. Thompson. A meeting of the gentlemen named above was held in the directors' room of the People's Bank yesterday afternoon and which resulted in the articles being drawn and the by-laws accepted.

The organization will be incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, divided into one thousand shares at $100 each, and will conduct a building and loan business in Paris and Bourbon county.

The Paris Building & Loan Association will, with several exceptions, be conducted along the same lines as similar organizations, the object of which is to enable the members to secure homes in an easy manner, by money paid in weekly payments, or deposit savings at a rate of interest. In addition to this it is the purpose of the corporation to furnish material to be used in building homes for its members.

The terms of the corporation papers provide that the highest amount of indebtedness that can be incurred by the organization is $15,000. It is planned to begin an active business on or before the first of March.

By the set of by-laws which have been prepared it will be possible for anyone to become a member of the organization at any time during the year without paying back dues as is required by other loan associations of a like nature and upon the death of a person holding stock in the concern his legal representative comes into possession of the shares and at his option may withdraw from the company the amount of money paid in with three per cent. interest from the last dividend period. It is said this portion is a very important feature which is not in force with other companies.

It is further specified that each officer of the company shall be bonded and that no member can at any time hold more than twenty-five shares of stock in the concern.

INTERESTING EXERCISES HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL CHAPEL

The chapel exercises at the Paris City School Wednesday morning were of a very interesting nature. The High School orchestra, under the direction of Miss Wiard, made its first public appearance, and the selections rendered were very pleasing. Those composing the orchestra are William Talbott and Harold Wollstein, cornets; Lawrence Lavin and Morris Clark, first violins; Finnell Estes and Robert Link, second violins; J. S. Johnson, 'cello; Barnett Winters, snare drum; Sello Wollstein bass drum; C. P. Lancaster, piano.

Dr. F. L. Lapsley, secretary of the Board of Education, conducted the devotional exercises, and Dr. A. H. Keller gave a very practical talk to the pupils along the line of moral conduct, temperance, and the evils of the cigarette habit. Mr. Allen Smith, a member of the senior class of the High School, sang, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" in a manner that would do credit to a vocalist of experience and wide reputation. A number of special announcements and suggestions were made by Superintendent T. A. Hendricks.

The girls' basket ball team of the High School will meet the girls' team from Versailles, Thursday evening in the gymnasium of the Paris school, and a lively game is anticipated.

MRS. KENNEY WINS WITH POULTRY AT LEXINGTON

Mrs. Walter Kenney, of Bourbon county, made the following winnings at the Kentucky State Poultry Show, held at Lexington last week: on White Orpingtons, 1st pen, 1st, 2nd and 3rd hen, 1st and 2nd pullet and 4th cock. Also silver cup for best female in the show, all varieties competing. Also medal for best White Orpington pen, badge for best hen and badge for best pullet, winning twelve more points than nearest competitor. Also 1st Bronze Turkey cock and 1st Bronze Turkey cockrel.

Mrs. Alice Caldwell Ray, wife of Brig. Gen. James M. Ray, of the Confederate army, died at Asheville, N. C., Tuesday, after an illness of more than four years. She was 70 years old.

Mrs. Ray claimed the distinction of being chief hostess of the first Confederate veterans' reunion. It was held in 1879, at her home, known as "Ramoth" two miles from Asheville. She was generally known throughout the South as "Mother" Ray and gave largely to charity among the Confederate veterans.

BOTH HOUSES HEAR SUFFRAGE SPEAKERS

Mrs. Breckenridge and Miss Clay Address Senate and House on Subject.

GIVE WOMEN CHANCE

Point to Numerous Examples of Beneficial Laws Enacted in Other States.

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 15.—The feature of to-day's session was the hearing given to the cause of woman's suffrage in the joint session of the House and Senate this afternoon. The House met in Committee of the Whole, with Elwood Hamilton as chairman.

Miss Laura Clay, of Lexington, was the first speaker to present the women's needs for the ballot and gave a very thoughtful and well prepared address on the development of woman's duties as they formerly existed to the present state of commercial development.

She quoted statistics showing that in various matters affecting the welfare of women and in the fight against disease, dirt, vice and graft, the women of Kentucky have been, sadly handicapped by the mistaken notion on the part of men that they were acting with chivalry toward their women-folk.

Mrs. Breckenridge said that the members of the Legislature had come face to face with the problem which could not be avoided, although some of the members were loath to admit it, and perhaps were in that class of mankind which prefers to let things go as they are, rather than to take a lead in a forward movement.

She prophesied that woman's suffrage is certain to come and that it would be more to the credit of the State to re-assume its old leadership than to lag miserably along in the rear.

The galleries were crowded with both men and women during the addresses, and Mrs. Breckenridge and Miss Clay were frequently interrupted by vigorous applause.

At the close of the session at noon both Houses took a recess until tomorrow morning and accepted an invitation to a suffrage reception at the Capitol Hotel which is being held from 3 to 6 o'clock this afternoon.

IN THE HOUSE.

In the House this morning Matt Walton introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the reported instances of State officials holding more than one office and drawing more than one salary.

The movement for increasing interest in the work of State University among the members of the Legislature has taken the form of inviting a number of members to unofficially visit the University during the session. A number of friends of the University who have been in Frankfort are planning to make a trip to Lexington during the coming week in order that they may be more familiar with the State Institution and its needs.

The House committees which will visit the other State Institutions have not yet fixed the date upon which the trips will be made.

Fifteen bills were introduced in the Senate this morning.

HUTCHCRAFT ON COMMITTEES.

The many friends of Hon. R. B. Hutchcraft, Jr., Representative from Bourbon, were gratified to learn Tuesday of his appointment on several committees by Speaker Terrell. He occupies a place on six of the most important of the House, appointment to which was due to his recognized ability. He was named chairman of the Committee on Banks and Banking, and is also a member of the Committee on Restricting; Kentucky Statutes Committee; Revenue and Taxation Committee; Fish and Game Committee and the Racing Committee.

Mr. Hutchcraft is one of the most promising young Democrats in the State, and will be heard from before the end of the Legislative session. He has written to a large number of his constituents in Bourbon regarding their views on a bill to be introduced at this session to give cities of the fourth class power to adopt a commission form of government. The bill has been drawn closely from the act governing cities of the second class.

STATE'S FINANCIAL CONDITION

The balance in the State Treasury at the close of business, December 31, was $1,542,677.97, of which $129,194.94 belonged to the sinking fund and $486,080.04 to the general expense fund. Outstanding warrants amounted to $1,649,473.90.

3,500 LANGUAGES SPOKEN IN THE WORLD; ENGLISH LEADS.

There are approximately 3,500 languages or dialects spoken in the world, English leading them all in the number of persons using the tongue.

It is estimated that over 130,000,000 persons speak English, while 100,000,000 persons converse in German. Russian is spoken by some 70,000,000, while 45,000,000 make their wants known in French. The Spanish language is spoken by 40,000,000, Italian by 30,000,000, and Portuguese by 13,000,000.

English is spoken by 4,000,000 in the Dominion of Canada, by 3,500,000 in the West Indies, by 3,000,000 in Australia, by 1,000,000 in East India and by 38,000,000 in the British Isles, not forgetting some 75,000,000 in the United States.

German is spoken by 2,000,000 in the United States; the same number of persons use that language in Switzerland; 10,000,000 use it in Austria-Hungary and 46,000,000 speak it in the German Empire. In Belgium, where there was a movement on foot to make it popular, but 40,000 persons make use of it.

French is the regular means of communication between 2,500,000 persons in Belgium; between 1,000,000 persons in the United States and Canada and a similar number in Algeria, India and Africa. It is spoken by 600,000 Swiss and the same number of Hyattians. In Alsace-Lorraine 200,000 persons still make use of it, and in the mother country 38,000,000 persons recognize it as their native tongue.

STORAGE EGGS SOLD IN NEW YORK AS FRESH.

New York Firm Is Forced to Pay a Fine of $500.

A fine of $500 was imposed Saturday on the James Van Dyk Company, a New York egg dealers, on their plea of guilt to selling storage eggs as fresh. It is the first conviction of its kind in the State. The action was brought by the State Department of Health, which has been conducting a crusade against the practice of misrepresenting cold storage products.

MANY STEPS OF TANGO ARE TAUGHT.

Parisian dancing masters are now teaching 200 steps of the tango, and many of the more difficult steps are being tried at the public resorts.

Afternoon tea dances are numerous, and in the evenings restaurants which allow the tango are crowded with dancers. American dance tunes, some of them of not very recent origin, are played to a considerable extent. One song containing the strains of Dixie is often heard.

Occasionally the one-step and "fish" walk, and, of course, the waltz and two-step are danced, but preference is given to the tango.

Col. Goethels has cabled that the first steam vessel has passed through the Panama canal. That means that the engineering work is practically at an end. The work of establishing a permanent form of government and administration remains. The man best fitted to perform it is the author of the cable.

Mr. Taft and a distinguished traveler now in South America will learn with surprise that the inmates of the Mississippi Home for Confederate Veterans have assigned as their reason for asking Mr. Wilson to visit them the fact that they have never seen a President.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE FEBRUARY WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

The February Woman's Home Companion contains a remarkable contribution entitled "Why Fifty Women Do Not Go to Church." The author, Bruce Barton, has made specific inquiries of hundreds of women on the subject of church-going and has a mass of concrete evidence of great interest and significance. This article is to be followed by another entitled "Why Fifty Women Do Go to Church."

Other notable contributions to the February Companion are: "What I Have Learned About Canned Foods," by Christine Ttrhune Herrick; "How Children 'See With Their Hands'," by Mary Heaton Vorse; "The Uses of Biography," by Charles E. Jefferson; "The World's Greatest Paintings," by Laura Spencer Porter; "What Is the Ideal Small House?" by A. Raymond Ellis; "What Every Baby Needs," by S. Josephine Baker, M. D., in the Department for Better Babies; and "The Fun of Garden Planning," by Frank A. Waugh.

Lively fiction is contributed in a variety of fields by Grace Ellery Channing, Mary Heaton Vorse, Edwin L. Sabin, Myra F. Cutler, Fannie Heaslip Lea, Anna McClure Sholl and Juliet Wilbur Tompkins.

For younger readers Rose O'Neill contributes "The Kewpies and Little Peggy," and a Kewpie Valentine; A. E. Swoyer describes "Toboggans and Bobsleds That a Clever Boy Can Make;" Clara Andrew Williams and George Alfred Williams contribute "The Adventures of Jack and Betty." In the Cooking, Housekeeping and Fashion departments appear a great variety of practical and entertaining features. Special art features and a musical composition complete a very beautiful and entertaining number.

A HUMAN AQUARIUM.

A scientific examination of a man of strange powers who has been giving in Munich exhibitions of swallowing frogs and fishes and bringing them forth alive, has been reported by a German physician. As many as thirty exhibitions were given daily. His first drink water by the quart, then swallowed about twenty frogs or gold fish in succession, and while serving as a living tank for these animals he moved about freely and conversed. Then, by an inaudible effort, he caused the creatures to escape singly, after which he brought up the water through a tube, aiding with pressure by his hands. The exhibitor was a quiet, natural-looking man of sixty-three, small but well-nourished, and his powers of rumination, evidently inherited, was ascribed when a boy as a trick, and later as a source of income. The X-rays revealed only ordinary healthy organs. The stomach seemed even smaller than normal, and the digestive organs and esophagus showed nothing unusual. It was concluded that the stomach simply had abnormal elasticity.

In 1912 more than 2,000 miles of railway were constructed in British Columbia.

AMERICANS SHOULD DEVELOP IMPROVED POTATOES.

American progress in the development of improved varieties of potatoes has not been satisfactory as compared with the progress of leading European countries is the statement of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture in Department Bulletin No. 47, "Lessons For American Potato Growers From German Experiences."

The best European varieties possess a better flavor, color and texture, particularly for boiling and frying, but these do not succeed when introduced into the United States. If private growers would engage in this work as they have in Great Britain, Germany and Austria, they would find it a fascinating industry and would undoubtedly make notable achievements.

In America we have much to accomplish in breeding a potato with a greater starch content. Our potatoes are now lower than the German varieties by from 4 to 8 per cent.

Our climatic conditions in America are so diverse that we need varieties of potatoes adapted to special localities. Particularly do we need a heat-resistant strain that can more successfully withstand the high summer temperatures. Disease resistance is another quality that has been bred into certain foreign sorts, but is so lacking in ours that we have to quarantine absolutely certain foreign types that might bring disease with them.

The breeding of potatoes for different kinds of cooking might even be found profitable. A variety specially suited for baking is needed; another for frying; a close-textured tuber is in some demand for salads. The housewife to-day finds it necessary to waste much good material in preparing her potatoes for the table, particularly the irregular, deep-eyed sorts.

The use of commercial fertilizers, universally in Germany, is unknown in our Western potato districts. Certain of our districts in Maine, New York and other Atlantic trucking belts have already found it to their profit to use more fertilizer, and potato growing is most prosperous in these sections. This should become more universal.

Crop rotation is of fundamental importance to the potato crop in controlling disease and maintaining production, but in the United States only the beginning of an ordered system has been made. Germany has a rotation of from 3 to 7 years between potato crops. Nor has the importance of green manuring yet been fully appreciated in this country.

The problem of securing disease-free seed has been met in Germany by an official inspection, which results in certificates being issued only to owners of disease-free crops. Such a plan in the United States would be better if carried out by the co-operation of potato-growers associations, the State experiment stations, and the United States Department of Agriculture, rather than through legal enactment.

MORNING GOWNS DISTINGUISH LADIES

Underdress of the Well-Bred Woman Given Careful Consideration.

STYLES IN PAJAMAS

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—There are women who like to dress for the gaze of the multitudes, but when it comes to the privacy of their own apartments, think that "any old thing" will do. But there is another kind who like to feel the well-being—the solidity—of being well dressed at all times, if it be in the boudoir or at church. It is this last kind of woman who might be termed a well balanced good dresser. The first loves good clothes for the sake of those who admire her, and the other loves them for her own sake. By this one the construction of a proper dress for morning wear is given as much consideration as the dress she wears to the exclusive reception. Her lingerie may be counted upon as being dainty and beautiful, but more practical than her neighbor's, who buys for show alone, regardless of wearing qualities.

Never Such Beautiful Cotton Fabrics Seen As Those Displayed for Summer Wear.

The cotton fabrics used for house dresses are being shown in a wider variety, as the stores are commencing to exhibit materials for the Southern resorts, and incidentally for our own practical needs.

Ratines and crepes hold the principal place and are to be found in numerous guises—or, perhaps, it might be termed, disguises.

Brocaded effects are seen in everything from cotton flannel to velvet broche voile. Linen fabrics with a design not unlike that upon our damask tablecloth, are shown in all the popular colors.

Nota Bene—If you have a linen tablecloth you are not using, just dip it into the dye-pot and you will have a most up-to-date material for a dress especially if you make it up with the border around the bottom of the skirt.

One extremely pretty cotton house dress is pictured in Fig. 1. The material is a novelty madras which looks like a firm though loosely-woven lawn, with alternating ratine strip of black and lavender. The waist has raglan sleeves, with the tucks on the waist ending at the line of the sleeve. The collar and cuffs are of plain lavender linen. The skirt is very simple, as befits the woman who does a good deal of housework, two pleats in the front being the only relief and causing a little puff at the hips which give just a slight touch of the popular bouffant silhouette. And why not? Surely, utility and style may be combined with a little thought.

Another dress, seen in Fig. 2, is of blue linen crepe, with tiny red flowers having green stems thrown stiffly across it. The waist is very simple—a broad tuck on either shoulder gives breadth and fullness, while a tab closing lifts it from the sphere of the ordinary shirt waist. The four-gored skirt is also plain, but relieved by a tab corresponding to the one on the waist. Around the waist is a cruched girdle of black satin, and a simple little bow finishes the plain blue collar. These last accessories make it a dress suitable for afternoon wear at home, but it is still plain enough for the dress for morning wear.

For thenow stylish separate waists voile continues to be very popular, and is seen with a wide variety of decoration. One very pretty square was plaided in quarter-inch squares, with a fine ratine cord. Another very pretty fabric, called echlyn, has long and short drawn-work bars scattered in groups of three over the voile background.

White crepes and crinklettes are being used to make up lingerie, especially for the traveler or business woman, but the housekeeper should not fail to see the advantages of these webs, as they are great labor-savers, needing no starching or ironing.

Chemise and combination suits are made of the softest batiste, with a tiny embroidered figure in pale pink, blue, or lavender. One extremely pretty chemise is trimmed at the bottom with several net ruffles about two inches wide. This is called the tango chemise, because of the slashes on either side, as it is too narrow to lance in otherwise.

In the tiny shops on side streets, just off Fifth Avenue, are the places where ultra effects in lingerie may rather gasp at some of the things displayed, and the absurdity of chignon nightgowns trimmed with strips of fur, for an instant strikes her humor rather than the enjoyment of the pretty effect. Last year's swan's town was the nearest approach to fur, but this year fitch, skunk, martin and fox are seen even upon muslin nightgowns! They are also now quite necessary for trimming our negligees.

It is strange that veen our chemises and nightgowns are feeling the effects of certain phases of fashion. It was quite natural that close-fitting gowns should bring the princess slip, but that is now being discarded for a chemise of the softest crepe de Chine or Italian silk, having a ribbon drawn through the hem and confining it closely to the knees. And, will you believe it? another form of pantaloons is having quite a vogue. They are supposed to take the place of a petticoat, and are usually made of chiffon, fastened to fancy garters and worn just below the knees and as long as the skirt. These are most attractive when worn with a slashed skirt.

Machine Embroidered Cotton Webs Which Simulate Hand Work.

A few years ago pajamas for women came in with a rush. Our mothers looked pained when their very feminine daughters demanded them in place of the old-fashioned nightie, but finally yielded to the inevitable. But imagine their looks when they realize the Turkish and Oriental movement in dress is affecting even these night clothes, and pajamas are changing to long divided skirts, gathered at the ankle, simulating the bloomers worn by the beauties in the Turkish harems. Poor mother! But never mind: some day we will reach the same place. Our days of radicalism will be gone, and in our turn will come the stiff conservatism that goes with the little bromide. People did not wear such things when I was young!

Our Friends and Enemies. The things which our friends do with and for us form a part of our lives, for they strengthen and advance our personality. But the things which our enemies devise against us do not form part of our lives; we only experience them, reject them, and guard ourselves against them as against frost, storms, rain, hail or any other external inconvenience which may be encountered.—Goethe.

Former United States Senator William Lorimer has purchased a 600-acre in Cass county, Michigan, and will convert it into a mammoth mint bed. In view of the fact that Col. Roosevelt has gone on record as being a total abstainer, it is not probable that Senator Lorimer will favor him with a sample of his product when it reaches maturity.

DEATHS

HARP.
—Mrs. Nancy Jane Harp, aged 80 years, died Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Ben Chipley on Seventh street, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Harp had made her home with the Chipley family for two years. Her husband, who was a Union soldier, died in a soldiers' home in the West several years ago. She has two sons—Charles and Kinney Harp, who live in the West, from whom she has not heard for several years. The funeral will be held at the grave in the Paris cemetery this morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis.

HUTCHCRAFT.
—Mr. John J. Hutchcraft, aged 58 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. B. Amsbrook, in Lexington, Tuesday morning, following an illness of two months from cancer. Mr. Hutchcraft was a native of Bourbon county, but had been a resident of Lexington for about fifteen years. For sometime he operated a farm in Fayette county, before removing to Lexington and becoming a member of the Lexington police force. He is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. Otto Hodge, Troy, Ky., Mrs. C. B. Ashbrook, and Mr. Robert Hutchcraft, of Lexington. The funeral was held at eleven o'clock, Wednesday morning, at the residence, 125 Bryan avenue, in Lexington, and the body was taken on the interurban car to Nicholasville, Ky., where the interment will take place in the cemetery.

RELIGIOUS

—St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Rev. G. H. Harris, rector. Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Rt. Rev. L. W. Burton, D. D., will conduct services at 10:45 a. m. and preach. You are cordially invited to the services.

INCREASED AUTHORITY FOR LIVESTOCK BOARD

Members of the Livestock Sanitary Board, the State Board of Health and the Director of the Experiment Station at Frankfort, have agreed on a bill, giving the Sanitary Board jurisdiction over all diseases of animals, and empowering it to employ veterinarians to fight diseases of animals. The present law gives the Board jurisdiction over diseases not communicable to human beings, and puts the latter under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Health, thus dividing the authority and, it is claimed, interfering with prompt action. At present the Board members may be sent anywhere in the State at any time with allowances for pay and expenses but there is no provision for sending a veterinarian.

THEATRICAL

Columbia Theatre Today.

"The Children's Hour," (after the poem by Henry W. Longfellow). In Longfellow's beautiful poem he tells of the children's hour, that time in the day when the little ones are permitted to meet their elders on equal ground. He describes the love that existed between the grandfather and his three little grandchildren, who each night insisted upon coming into his study, where for one golden hour they reigned supreme, and he was their willing and devoted servant.

"The Milkman's Revenge." Cranky Mrs. Grump, who lives on a milk diet, discharges her maid because the latter was smitten with a milkman—the same one who "serves" the "route" that includes Mrs. Grump's residence. The milkman doctors Mrs. Grump's milk, with amusing, exhilarating and amazing results.

"A Muddy Romance." For sheer humor of situation and action this is one of the best films that has been released for a long time. Manuel Normand plays the part of the girl whose romance proved to be so muddy. She and her lover have to run away in order to escape the activities of a rival. They finally take to a lake in the park, and, having dragged a minister along, are married in a rowboat. Unfortunately the jealous man, who is pursuing them, turns the valve which drains the lake. The police are called out and start in a boat. Both boats are left high, but not dry, on the mud. The occupants try to walk ashore, only to founder up to their waists in mud. Ropes are finally used to rescue them, but their condition on reaching shore is enough to make the most grouchy burst into laughter. Don't miss this Keystone comedy.

"Officer 666."
In the race for popularity, "Officer 666," which appeared all last season at the Gaiety Theatre, in New York, is leading the laughing field and running true to form, spurred on by the plaudits of a much pleased public who are backing this melodramatic farce favorite to win the success records this year.

"Officer 666" is a funny "cop." He makes you laugh and keeps you guessing. Every night you are sure he is going to make an important arrest, and every other minute or so during the performance it looks as if might, but the gentlemanly crook under surveillance is a smooth-fingered member of the light-fingered fraternity, trained to avoid the nets set for him by the officers of the law, so that although "Officer 666" has been hot on his trail for over a year, he is still at liberty, the enjoyment of which is participated in to as full extent by those who watch as it is by he who is "wanted." "Officer 666" will be seen at the Paris Grand, tomorrow night. (adv)

HENRIETTA CROSSMAN AT LEXINGTON.

Henrietta Crossman's new play, "The Tongues of Men," written by Edward Childs Carpenter, which she brings to the Lexington Opera House, Monday, Jan. 19, has been acknowledged by those who have seen it, to be the play of the hour. It was brought to view at the psychological moment when all theatres were ringing with approval at the closing of the two plays in New York—"The Lure" and "The Fight"—rightly closed by municipal authority on the grounds of immorality. For sometime there has been a leaning toward plays of this sort, at least of questionable morality. The climax was reached when the two mentioned were made to close their doors. Now comes this remarkable play with its vital lesson of truth and charity, for its theme is based on St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, 13th chapter and 1st verse, "Though I speak with the tongues of angels and have not charity I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." This is one of the most famous verses in the New Testament; certainly it is St. Paul's most famous writing and known and accepted everywhere there is Christianity.

It must not be thought that Miss Crossman is coming to preach a sermon with this bit of Scripture as her text. Nothing of the sort. It is true that the theme of "The Tongues of Men," is wrought out of St. Paul's famous writing, but it is a play just the same as one that is intensely effective in its situations and dialogue and equally scintillating in its wit and humor, thus replacing them with smiles the mastery of which has no equal. (14j-2t)

"The Doll Girl" at Lexington.
That dainty little bundle of femininity, "The Doll Girl," will come to the Lexington Opera House, Wednesday, Jan. 21, matinee and night, and there is sure to be a large audience to bask in the radiance of her innocence and charm, to follow her from the village home up to the wicked Paris, and there watch the adventures that befall her. There will be the beautiful sweetheart, the naughty old marquis, the fiery tempered Spanish lady, the strolling actor and a lot of other people in her train. Providing that you have not heard of this little lady, it might be well to remark right here, and now, that she is the pivotal figure in the new musical comedy in which Richard Carle and Hattie Williams are the co-stars. The piece, originally a French comedy, and then a German musical piece, comes from New York in its American form, and is said to be one of the brightest and most diverting comedies that has been given to the stage in some time. It shows Mr. Carle in wonderful raiment, and as a marquis he is called upon to dance and sing and be droll in his own inimitable manner. Miss Williams comes forward as a Spanish lady who is not Spanish at all, and two of the song hits are in her keeping. Dorothy Webb will be the "doll girl," Robert Evett the bashful lover and Will West the strolling actor. Cheridah Simpson and Charles McNaughton are among the other prominent people in the cast. There are twenty-four musical numbers in the piece, the composer of which is Leo Fall. (16-2t)

SALOSHIN-JOSEPH.

—The marriage of Miss Goldie Saloshin, of this city, to Mr. David Joseph, of Cincinnati, was quietly celebrated Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Davidson, in Lexington, Rev. Dr. Fishman, Rabbi, of the Jewish Church, of Lexington, performing the ceremony.

The announcement of the engagement of this popular couple was made several months ago, and it was understood the wedding would take place in the early spring, and would have been one of the pretty events of the season in this city. However, it was decided by the contracting parties to have a quiet wedding to avoid as much publicity as possible. The announcement of the marriage came as quite a surprise, as their friends were looking to the event this spring.

The couple was accompanied to Lexington Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Greengard, of Binghamton, N. Y., who are here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. L. Saloshin, and the ceremony was witnessed by this couple and Dr. and Mrs. Davidson.

The bride is the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Saloshin, while the groom is a prosperous and popular merchant of Cincinnati. After the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip in the East when they will return to Cincinnati to make their home.

COURT AFFIRMS CASE FROM BOURBON COUNTY.

The Court of Appeals Tuesday affirmed the decision in case of the East Tennessee Telephone Company against the Paris Gas & Electric Co. on appeal from Bourbon county. The appeal was the outcome of an attempt on the part of the telephone company to secure an injunction against the Paris Gas and Electric Co. restraining the company from using its poles in this city for the purpose of stringing electric wires. The case came up before Judge Stout at the June, 1912, term of court, who rendered a decision in favor of the electric company. An appeal was taken and since that time the case has been pending in the higher court.

SMALL-POX PATIENT DIES NEAR AUSTERLITZ

Mr. Hodges, with five other sufferers from the disease, have been in quarantine. His condition assumed a critical stage, death resulting shortly. The others who had contracted the disease improved rapidly and were discharged from the temporary house for eruptive diseases on Wednesday. Hodges was an industrious man, and a widower. He is survived by seven children. The body was buried on the farm, permission being refused to allow it to be interred in the Paris or the Clintonville cemeteries.

VOCALISTS TO BEGIN REHEARSALS FOR CONCERT

About twenty-five of the leading vocalists of this city met Monday evening at the Presbyterian church to begin rehearsals under the direction of Prof. A. H. Morehead for the chorus to be given in connection with the Myron W. Whitney concert on Feb. 24. Prof. Morehead is very ambitious to make Paris a musical center, and could easily do so with the encouragement of the music-loving people of the community, for there is as much talent here as in any other place of the size in Kentucky, and by introducing the talent which is to be found in other parts of the county, Prof. Morehead could organize a chorus or musical society that would be of great advantage and pleasure to the people of Paris. The Whitney concert, which was to have been given in November, was postponed, but will be given on the evening of February 24.

POULTRY NOTES.

The matings and the eggs being all tight, the next thing is to see to the nests or incubator boxes. It is early yet to put any old box in the open, where rains and draughts can make havoc of the hen and her precious eggs. A house is the need of the hen—not a rat center, either. In the house, into which sunshine should come some time in the day, put a box, nest, large, roomy enough for the mother hen to stand up or turn around. Hens often turn around, and if the quarters are too small they are apt to break an egg in doing so. The nest may be provided with a bottom of turf, grass side down, beaten hard and a saucerlike hollow scooped in its center. Fill the corners of the box with turf, packed down tight in the crevices. The nest should next be covered with hay or soft straw, well lusted with insect powder.

There are so many "crying needs" in the poultry industry. One says that the greatest need is intelligent feeding; that this is the solution of the egg-production problem. Another declares that the one crying need is intelligent mating. Another lays stress on intelligent housing, and others on other features. The whole truth is composite. The solution of the poultry problem lies in that one word, "intelligent." Every step should be forward one and taken after intelligent consideration. Haphazard methods no longer avail. The age has outgrown them—in chicken raising as well as in the higher professions, such as teaching, preaching, physicking.

A German savant, Dr. Gebbing, director of the Leipzig Zoo, has discovered, through various experiments, that the most effective way to keep down mosquitoes is to have wild ducks on the ponds where the insects breed. Ducks feed greedily on all sorts of insect life in its larval stage. One German nobleman has stocked his ponds with thousands of wild ducks.

The hen of the future will be encouraged not to waste time loafing on some old nest that is possibly mite-infested, brooding day after day for three solid weeks or more, but to lay her nice large egg every day in the year and then go about the business of making the next day's egg and swelling her master's bank account. Her little buffy, duffy, dandy birds will come, but they will come in a warm incubator and grow up in a brooder.

The February and March chicks are the chicks that fill the pocket-book. They are also the chicks that make the early winter pullets and lay the high-priced eggs in November and December.

Breeding the best layers year after year is the only true method of securing high water marks in poultry raising.

The barred Plymouth Rock is a bird to be proud of when you have the best there is of them. With his full deep breast, his deep body, his aristocratic bearing, one must feel that he is a king among birds.

If you hope to get winter eggs, it will be necessary to provide as great a variety of food as possible for the season of the year. Vary the grains provide sprouted oats, alfalfa, cabbage, beets and meat ration. And make the birds exercise.

Do not be afraid to leave the hen-house stay open in cold weather. Fowls flourish on dry, fresh air. They are warmly clothed by nature and need the air. At the same time do not let wet in, nor draughts, nor storms.

A burly curtain which can be raised or lowered, according to the weather conditions, is generally sufficient in such climate as we have in Kentucky. It is essential, however, that the fowls exercise, not stand huddled up on one foot, awaiting food that is too easily obtained. Sow grain in the floor litter and make them hunt for it.

You Backyarders, see what you can do with your backyards the coming season. You might wire off one-half for fowls and give the other half up to garden. The house owner who loves either avocation has a world of pleasure in his off hours, and when a neighborhood of gentlemen get the chicken fad or the garden fad no outside attraction can lure them away from home evenings until dark closes down. They hurry home from the office, put on jumpers, seize the hoe or spade and out into the fresh air they go, gathering health and cheating the good doctor out of his natural rights. The wife has her innings when the bowl of brown eggs, all of one size and shape come to the table, or the vases are filled in the dewy morning with great creamy roses, or when at noon the table is adorned with a steaming bowl of green peas or with crisp radishes laid on crisp lettuce leaves of green and white.

Auto driving is to be taught under the engineering department of the Iowa State College this year. A class from Paris would make mighty fine material for the instructors to start on.

If you are still trying to hold down your seat on the water wagon, don't forget that a combination of pay day and Saturday night has often been known to give the aqueous go-cart an alarming shock.

Demand for stock cattle developed phenomenal breadth early in 1913, and competition between killers and finishers for the near-beef class was keen all summer. Prediction of scarcity of young cattle was abundantly verified and the appreciation of stocker values narrowed the feeder's margin, where it was not wiped out altogether. The result was that most of the feeders laid subsequently to March 1 that were carried any length of time were money losers. Short-fed cattle were "the best bet" of the year, and those who got out with 90 to 100-day feeds achieved maximum results. Fifty bushels of corn divided between two steers produced far better results than where the entire quantity was fed to one beast.

STOCK AND FARM NOTES

Kentucky mules have a world wide reputation, but there are three states that are ahead of Kentucky in mule production. There are six big mule States, and their rank, according to the census of 1910 was as follows: Texas, 700,000; Missouri, 115,000; Tennessee, 290,000; Kentucky, 205,000; Illinois, 105,000 and Indiana 60,000. New Orleans, St. Louis and Atlanta are the leading mule markets. Kentucky could well afford to increase her prestige in mule raising. We ought to be able to grow as many mules as Tennessee. What's the matter with starting a room in the mule business Col. Dick Ratcliffe says Kentucky should be the leading mule State in the Union just as easily as she leads the world in the "prettiest women, finest whist and fastest horses."

The Woman's Suffrage Party of the United States has adopted for its slogan this year: "Concentration for twenty months and victory in 1915." This is somewhat different from their English sisters' battle cry, which is: "Hell for twenty minutes, and then a hunger strike."

"What to Eat and Why" is the title of a little booklet on scientific gastronomy that has just come from the press. The author, however, seems to have overlooked the fact that there is a large percentage of people who would be more interested in a work on "Where to Eat and How."

"Mona Lisa" had hardly settled down in her old niche on the wall of the Louvre, when thieves broke into the Alpine church near Susa, Italy, and stole "The Adoration of the Magi." If da Vinci and Reubens were living today, they would have a hard time escaping the imputation of employing press agents.

ALFALFA IN KENTUCKY.

Scattered about in many sections of Kentucky one finds farmers who have some alfalfa growing upon their farms. From a productive standpoint many of these fields of alfalfa are very poor. They represent simply the possibilities of alfalfa, in the particular section, when the conditions necessary for the production of the crop are fully met. Here and there in the State, however, are found men who, with a thorough knowledge of the requirements of alfalfa, are eminently successful in growing the crop. A farmer can consider himself successful with alfalfa when he is able to harvest three or four cuttings a year, aggregating a yield of from 3 to 5 tons per acre, and when the field has been kept comparatively free from weeds and has been productive for several years.

Every live farmer knows the superior feeding value of alfalfa for nearly all kinds of live stock. The question is, can he grow it? The climate of Kentucky is congenial to alfalfa, and in many sections the soil is sufficiently fertile to grow the crop successfully. The lack of proper preparation of the seed bed is often the cause of failure. Soils which will grow from forty to fifty bushels of corn per acre are rich enough to grow alfalfa, while some soils not quite so productive can be prepared for alfalfa by growing a crop of cowpeas to turn under. In sections low in phosphorus content finely ground phosphate rock should be added.

The Kentucky Experiment Station is so interested in the value of alfalfa to the farmer that the Extension Department is making a special effort to become acquainted with all successful growers and in addition is offering services in directing the work of clubs of farmers whose members wish to grow a few acres of alfalfa under instructions. The Extension Department has now a good number of farmers in the State who are in this way learning to grow alfalfa, but is able to offer its services to a few more groups of farmers for the coming year.

Any farmer who has become interested in the growing of alfalfa in his community is invited to correspond early with the Extension Department concerning the formation of an alfalfa club, and its subsequent direction by this Department.

Do not suppose that you can run in the little eggs, dirty eggs, old eggs and speckled eggs by putting on top of the lot a few fine single-colored eggs, and sell the whole lot for the price of the best. On the contrary, the whole lot will almost surely be graded to the price of the worst eggs in the basket.

IRON ORE BREAKS RECORD.

Production of 1913 Exceeds by Large Margin the Record Figures of 1910.

The quantity of iron ore mined in the United States in 1913 is estimated by E. F. Burchard of the United States Geological Survey, to have been between 53,000,000 and 60,000,000 long tons. This estimate is based on preliminary reports from 25 of the largest iron-mining companies, which present the principal iron-producing districts and whose combined output is about 81 per cent. of the total iron ore mined in 1913.

The average increase in output shown by these 25 companies was 8 per cent. over that for 1912 and this increase should be maintained by all the iron companies in the United States the total output of iron ore for 1913 should reach 59,500,000 long tons. At any rate, it appears almost certain that the former high record of 57,014,096 long tons of 1910, has been surpassed in 1913. The reports received for 1913 showed considerable variation in the percentage of changes in output compared with 1912, the maximum range being from a decrease of 36 per cent. to an increase of 56 per cent. These apparently wide variations were evidently due to conditions affecting particular companies rather than to general or local conditions of the iron-mining industry; moreover, they concern for the most part, the operations of companies which are largely dependent on the domestic market.

The quantity of the domestic market for iron ore in 1913 is estimated to have been 25 per cent. of the total output of the United States in general, or about 14,250,000 long tons. This is a considerable increase over the 1912 figure of 12,000,000 long tons. The year 1913 was a record for the iron-mining industry, and the shipments of iron ore for the year will exceed 40,000,000 long tons, which, together with the all-time shipments of more than 40,000 tons, brings the figures for total shipments of Lake ore very close to the tonnage of ore mined and indicates that not much change has occurred in the stocks of ore at the mines in the Lake district. These stocks amounted at the close of 1912 to about 9,500,000 long tons of ore.

In the Birmingham district, Alabama, the production of iron ore in 1913 as indicated by the preliminary returns was about 10 per cent. greater than for 1912. In Tennessee there was apparently a slight decrease and in North Carolina a slight increase. New Jersey and New York both showed slight increases, while Pennsylvania showed a slight decrease. In the Rocky Mountain district of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, there was a slight decrease.

The types of iron ore produced commercially consists of red and specular hematite, brown ore magnetite and siderite or spathic ore. Hematite constitutes about 90 per cent. of the output. Only a very small fraction of 1 per cent. of the output is siderite, the production of brown ore and magnetite together constitute nearly 10 per cent. of the total.

HIS STOMACH TROUBLES OVER

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Baker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says: "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets; then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers. (adv)

Charles W. Morse is to ask for a Congressional investigation of the circumstances of his conviction. The public would like to know what are the circumstances of his release.

NEW TREATMENT FOR DIPHTHERIA.

Dr. L. L. Ten Broeck, of Minneapolis, in the recent issue of the Medical Record, gives an account of a new method of treating diphtheria. He relates his experiences in implanting in the throats of patients suffering from it a fungus which multiplies rapidly and destroys the germs responsible for the disease.

The fungus is said to be harmless and to its work rapidly. It is called the Achlya Muscaris, and is described as Thallophytic fungus. The qualifying adjective is derived from two Greek words thallos, a green twig and phytos, plant.

"Achlya muscaris," says Dr. Ten Broeck, "possesses the power of destroying bacilli diphtheria in culture and in the throat."

"It is applicable in all stages of the disease and seems to give speediest results in the earliest cases."

"There are grounds for believing that a throat in which the fungus is growing is soon shorn of its danger of contagion, even if the diphtheria bacilli are still harbored."

"If this fungus possess strong bactericidal properties," says Dr. Ten Broeck, "it ought to prove itself curative unaided by other means."

"Anticipating the clinical tables, it may be said that the fungus seems to remove membranous anginas of various origin. Given a case of membranous angina not seriously sick enough to demand immediate anti-toxin, it is apparent that the fungus can be inoculated and be doing its work many hours before the diagnosis has become established. When there was at the same time a clinical improvement that one by practice can detect, we felt justified in the face of a favorable outlook to let the case progress without other treatment."

"These cases form the most striking demonstration of the action of this fungus."

NEWS OF MILLERSBURG

The examinations at the M. F. C. began Thursday.

Miss Genevieve Wells, of Paintsville, entered the M. F. C. as a student, Wednesday.

Miss Louise Myall is visiting friends at Little Rock.

Mrs. Chattie Turner, of Mt. Sterling, arrived Monday as the guest of Mrs. W. M. Miller and Mrs. E. H. Kerr.

Mr. James Plummer, of Carlisle, who is in poor health, is spending a week with his brother, Mr. Joseph Plummer.

Miss Helen Clarke left Wednesday for her home in Louisville, after a two weeks' visit to her grandmother, Mrs. Louis Clarke.

Mrs. Frances A. Forman, aged 56 years, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Richard Wasson, Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, following a brief illness of pneumonia. She was formerly Miss Bowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowles, of Bourbon county, and was the last surviving member of a family of eleven children. Her husband was the late John Wesley Forman, a prominent farmer of the North Middletown and Little Rock neighborhoods. She is survived by three children, a son, Isaac Forman, and a daughter, Mrs. Wasson. Another daughter died early in life. The funeral took place Thursday at 10 a. m., from her late residence, with the services conducted by Eld. C. O. Cossaboom, of the Millersburg Christian church. Interment in the Millersburg cemetery.

The protracted meeting at the Presbyterian church continues with a special service for the young people Saturday at 3 p. m. The meeting will continue over Sunday.

Coming to the Millersburg Opera House on Friday, January 16, is the great musical comedy, "The King of Tramps," with concert band and orchestra.

The play is built distinctly on comedy lines, and there is almost continuous laughter from beginning to end. During the action of the play many pleasing specialties are introduced.

Miss Cornelia Ammerman, of Cynthiana, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Edwina Ammerman.

Mr. B. Y. Chambers, assistant superintendent of the Home Telephone Co., at Louisville, was here Wednesday on business.

Union prayer services were observed here yesterday at the Methodist church, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League.

The second quarterly meeting will be held at the Methodist church on Sunday, January 18. We hope that Rev. E. L. Southgate will have a good audience. Those who did not have the opportunity of contributing to the self-denial offering will have the privilege on that date.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION INVALID

The Court of Appeals Wednesday morning affirmed the Franklin County Circuit Court, holding the Constitutional amendments, permitting the classification of property for the purpose of taxation, and the amendment for working convicts on the public roads, to be invalid.

The amendments, which were voted on at the last election, were attacked by George C. Speer on the ground that they had not been advertised as provided by the constitution—ninety days before the election, and his contention was upheld by Judge Stout.

This opinion was affirmed by the Appellate Court Wednesday.

Secretary of State Crecilus, whose duty it was to advertise the amendments ninety days before election, failed to advertise them until sixty days before the election. He certified the amendments to go on the ballot, however, and they carried 20 to 1. A friendly suit was brought to test the law. The Appellate Court says the constitution fixed the time for advertisement, and left only the manner of publication to the Legislature.

The Court holds that the provision of the constitution is mandatory, and should be carried out to the letter.

"To say that the words of the constitution are directory and not mandatory is to license a violation of the instrument every day and every hour," says the Court.

ISOLATION OF GAME LAWS IS CHARGED

Matt S. Cohen, the well-known saddle horse trainer and livestock claim agent for the L. & N. railroad, was arrested in Lexington, Tuesday, on a charge of violating the game laws by sending quail from Kentucky to Ohio. Mr. Cohen gave himself up to Sheriff C. Bradley when he heard there was a warrant for his arrest. About five weeks ago Mr. Cohen sent some quail from Glasgow, Ky., to Mr. Brent Arnold, general freight agent for the L. & N. at Cincinnati, and the package was inspected en route by game authorities, and a warrant was sworn out for Mr. Cohen's arrest. He was released on his own recognizance.

The tides are very cleverly made to do the work of reclaiming land and building up farms along some of the rivers in the northeast of England. Describing this practice of "warping" to the Royal Agricultural Society, J. Stephenson states that artificial channels with sluice gates are provided, and twice a day, at flood tide, the waters carry inland a heavy load of "warp," or mud, to deposit on the low-lying swales. The land is made suitable for agriculture in two or three years, being raised several feet, when the flooding is discontinued.

Most of the widows of Paris, are remarried within eighteen months of their first bereavement.

USES MIRRORS TO TEACH PRONUNCIATION

In his efforts to teach French pronunciation to English pupils, an instructor in the Tottenham Grammar School has made use of small mirrors during the last two years. A series of sound-charts has been prepared, and a diagram shows the correct position of lips and tongue for sounding each vowel and diphthong. Each pupil is aided by his little mirror in arranging his own mouth to correspond with the diagram. Unpromising as this method appears, it has proven effective, and V. Forbin, in a French account, states that after ten months of instruction six hours to the week, two-thirds of the pupils read French with a good accent. By the old system nine-tenths of the pupils fail to pronounce French comprehensively at the end of their last year.

RAILROAD MEN MAY LOSE THEIR JOBS

The Winchester Sun says: "Railroad men doing construction work in and near this county on the L. & N. have been somewhat doubtful as to the permanency of their positions, following the announcement made a few days ago by President Milton H. Smith that construction work on the L. & N. was to be practically stopped in the near future. "Although the men know they will be kept on for several months yet, until the new line to Irvine is completed, the announcement has caused quite a lot of talk and apprehension among the men directly concerned."

During one year a million and a half volumes are called for and supplied by the British Museum.
